

Official DAS Website

The official website of DAS is accessible at <http://das.tuwien.ac.at> .

The website is hosted by the Institute for Mechanics of Materials and Structures (IMWS) of Vienna University of Technology. Therefore, the webpage will be up-dated on a regular basis with the input of the DAS-Members from the DAS-Member of IMWS.

Contents:

The front page of the DAS-website contains information of Member Organisations of DAS as well as the name of the current president of DAS. Furthermore information on coming Danubia-Adria-Symposia are available on the front page. Lastly, a section with latest news concerning DAS and related topics is included.

Additional information, which is or should be available on the DAS-website is:

- Scope of DAS: what DAS stands for,
- Scientific Committee: President, Regular Members, Honorary Members,
- Statement of the President.
- Statutes of DAS and appendices.
- Series of Danubia-Adria-Symposia: Former and coming symposia with information of date, place, and links to websites of the respective symposia,
- Information on Abstract Submission: Harmonised information on abstract submission and typing instructions for contributions to the annual Danubia-Adria-Symposia,
- Websites of former Danubia-Adria-Symposia: If websites of former symposia are to be turned off, then the respective webpage will be copied to the official DAS webpage,
- Journals: List of journals in which selected publications of the Danubia-Adria-Symposia will be published as well as a list of other journals of interest,
- Partnerships: list of related societies, organisations, and sponsors,
- Conference calendar: Information on coming conferences related to the topics of DAS,
- Link to the members.

Podbanske, September 2006